

Security Policy covering correct handling and safe keeping of disclosure information

The Ashton Group destroys disclosure information after it has been seen by the interviewing panel.

The company keeps a confidential database detailing the date of issue and reference number of disclosure certificates for all employees and contract workers.

We require our contract workers to be able to show their copy of the disclosure certificate to any partner agency should it be requested. This is a contractual matter.

April 2009